Youth Protection Training

We can present this at a unit level or where ever you need it and it is also Available Online @ myscouting.org

Every youth deserves a trained leader. Just as we teach our our youth to use a compass and read a map before setting them loose in the wilderness, Scout Volunteers are standing by to help prepare Unit Scouters how to guide and develop the youth in their units with quality, active, and engaging programming. Please see below for updates regarding training.

Please Note: The trainings listed here are reproduced from colbsa.org/training Though we will do our best to maintain the most accurate and up-to-date listing, you should confirm all trainings with the Point of Contact before attending. If you do not see a training that is convenient, please go to colbsa.org/training to check if additional training opportunities are available.

Any unit can request training for their unit. We can work out times to present desired training for your unit or a group of units. Note: not all training courses are feasible in this manner but many are and have been done this way.
